

Hippotherapy Program

“Riding for Peace” provides hippotherapy and equine therapy to children and adolescents admitted to the Innovations Program. Through the direction of our occupational and speech and language therapists, this program provides opportunities for therapy using an alternative yet innovative treatment modality. Utilizing equine movement, our therapists provide patients with a multi-sensory experience that improves functional outcomes in the areas:

- Physical Gait
- Posture
- Sensory Processing
- Social Skills
- Receptive and Expressive Language
- Self-Esteem

Participants are evaluated for participation by our Occupational Therapist with input from each member of the treatment team to ensure the behavioral and physical safety of each patient.

Individual Treatment Plans Designed to Address Unique Needs

About Innovations Program

Based on the principles of Applied Behavior Analysis, the Innovations Program provides inpatient treatment to children and adolescents with intellectual and developmental disabilities (IDD) who are experiencing acute behavioral and psychiatric symptoms. Inpatient treatment includes psychiatric care, individual, group and family therapy, expressive therapy, educational services and 24-hour nursing care.

To meet the unique needs of children and adolescents diagnosed with an intellectual and developmental disability, the Innovations Program provides specialized treatment services that include applied behavior analysis, occupational therapy and speech and language therapy.

Using an evidence based approach to care, treatment is aimed at decreasing the occurrence of challenging behaviors through environmental modifications and teaching functional replacement behaviors. Throughout the admission, our multidisciplinary team of professionals work collaboratively with families and caregivers to provide training, support and case management to aid in a successful transition back into the home and school environment.

Multi-Disciplinary Team

Peace Hospital's Innovations Program offers an array of therapeutic services to meet each individual's specific needs. In addition, parents and caregivers are encouraged to participate in their child's treatment through team meetings, family sessions and visitations with your child.

- Psychiatry
- 24-hour Nursing Care
- Individual and Group Therapy
- Case Management and Discharge Planning
- Applied Behavior Analysis
- Occupational and Speech Therapy
- Jefferson County Public School

The multi-disciplinary team of professionals work collaboratively to develop an individual treatment plan designed to address each patient's unique needs. The goal of each admission is to develop interventions that assist the patient in reaching behavioral stabilization while providing parents and caregivers with the necessary resources to decrease the need for future hospitalizations.
